Learning evokes creativity, Creativity leads to thinking, thinking provides knowledge, Knowledge makes me great". It gives me immense pleasure to present the first issue of the Research Journal in Computer Science and Information Technology-"Adarsh Journal of Information Technology".

It is a journal by the department of MCA that has both internal and external expert reviewer teams. This journal is the brain child of the MCA department ,publishes articles on current research in the areas of wired and wireless and Adhoc networks, Image formats, Image types, Security in E-commerce, Social Networks, gesture recognition, Application of fast algorithms and storage area networks. It is a stepping stone to an exciting learning expereince. Since, this is the ideal time for study and teaching-learning thrives in an ambience wherein new knowledge is created, the journal has been planned carefully to enable both the scholars and students to further their academic pursuits.

AJIT is a journal which has both internal and external expert reviewer teams on board which hones the research skills of the scholar, it challenges them to keep abreast with the latest areas of research which in turn helps them to improve the quality of teaching. My sincere appreciation goes to all the contributors, who worked with ease, enthusiasm and sincerity to bring out the issue . I thank my dear staff, who journeyed along with each of you.

Happy reading!!!
