

Editorial

Dear Readers,

I am pleased to present the Volume 2 Issue 1 of Asian Journal of Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Sciences. AJCPS is a quarterly peer-reviewed journal committed to publish the high quality articles in all area of chemistry and pharmaceutical science. Chemistry and Pharmaceutical science are closely related disciplines and their convergence is very frequent. In spite of excessive ongoing research in these disciplines very few journals, especially from Asian region are available those cover both the subjects. I hope that AJCPS will encourage the researchers, students and academicians involved in Chemistry and Pharmaceutical research.

Peer review is one of the important aspects of scientific publishing. We are committed to depend on rigorous double-blind peer review to ensure the publication of original and authentic manuscripts. I would like to invite the eminent professionals, academicians and distinguished researchers working in field of chemistry and pharmaceutical science, to join AJCPS reviewer panel.

Editorial panel is another prerequisite of any scientific journal. We are glad to have the eminent professionals and subject experts from different countries. I am thankful to our advisors and editorial team members for their faith in Asian Journal of Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Sciences. I am also thankful to management of Informatics journals for providing a world class open access publishing platform.

This issue contains the articles from different subjects such as Phytochemistry, chemical synthesis and pharmaceutical quality assurance etc. I hope these articles will be beneficial for the readers and make contribution to the existing knowledge of subject. While delivering this issue, I am thankful to those submitted their articles to AJCPS and hope to receive the scientific contributions from all the colleagues. I welcome our readers for their comments/suggestions that may improve the journal.

Editor,
