Kalyani Govt. Engineering College was established in the year of 1995. The institute has reached peaks of success within few years of journey since inception. The journey towards success has been contributed by all the members of family of Kalyani Govt. Engineering College (KGEC). One of the peaks of success is the contribution of research and development by the members of faculty. We are very happy that members of KGEC are contributing tirelessly towards research and development. A replica of this effort is the publication of the 9th volume of the Technical Magazine, "REASON". The quality of research work shows that the institute is not lagging behind the premier institutes of the country. The publications in this technical magazine will also encourage budding researchers to find out their area of interest and guidance to proceed further.

I congratulate contributors for their support, and wish that young researchers will be contributors in the next issue of this technical magazine.
